

Linux User Group of Virginia Commonwealth University
Minutes for October 8th, 2007

Demo day is scheduled for Tuesday Oct 16th from 10-2. It will be held in the first floor lobby of the engineering building.

Anyone wishing to provide a computer for the demo day please contact Nathaniel. Additionally, if you would like to prepare a demonstration on a particular piece of free software, please let Nathaniel know.

Anyone with Monitors they can bring, please email Nathaniel and let him know

It has been proposed that the LUG website have a section on how to burn CDs from the command line. Anyone with specific details on how to do this please email Geoffrey at rogersgj22 at gmail dot com.

We have complications with the Richard Stallman visit. The event date is tentatively set for Wednesday, March 26th, in the evening. The problem is that he will only speak to the university, if the Linux User Group of VCU drops their sponsorship of the event. Because of this, we may be dropping sponsorship of the event. The event would then only be sponsored by the Computer Science department. More details to come!

We concluded the meeting with a trip to Coldstone.
