

Linux User Group of VCU -- October 22

Member Totals:

64 people currently on the announce list

16 people currently on the discussion list

We are planning to hold an "install fest" in a couple weeks to help out anyone within the group with technical or install questions. Tentative dates are Thursday November 8th or 15th.

Next week's meeting is going to be short due to mid-term work. No topic presentation will occur.

PSAD is a program to look at for port scanning. It's a lightweight intrusion detection system.

Anyone with ideas about what to do during the rest of the semester please submit your ideas.

The event calendar will soon been updated to show holidays. This will help to better plan events.

The winners of the free t-shirts have been selected. They have been contacted with information on how to collect their prizes. The names were chosen by drawing from a hat. Congrats to the winners.