

Linux User Group of VCU – November 5th, 2007

Today's meeting was not very productive.

We discussed ways in which to spend the remainder of our fall semester funds.

We will hold an “install fest” type event on November 15th from around 5:30pm to 8pm in the School of Engineering. Room number to be determined. We will not be handing out CD's but instead doing live installs for anyone who wants them and answering basic technical questions/concerns.

We are currently accepting ideas for a new t-shirt design. Please make your designs black lettering/images on a white t-shirt.
